Enjoyable Events Student Activities

Students here in John Glenn High School are presented an opportunity to engage in a variety of activities that take place throughout the year.

Each year, activities such as: Flower grams, dances, as one sponsored by the junior class held in September, leadership camp and we can not forget Class Competition.

The students that participate in these activities make the events here enjoyable every year!

Victories And Defeats Class Competition

Victories along with defeats describe the 1985 Class Competition. Students from each class gathered together to show who had more spirit along with power.

Some of the catagories and class victors were: The Fish Chase where the Juniors "swamped" the Seniors and Sophomores and claimed their victory along with the Sac Race and the Three Legged Race; The Seniors claimed the title of the Shoe Kick, and Musical Chairs; and lastly, the sophomores won the Egg Toss along with the Tug-Of-War.

Everyone who participated had a great time and found it an excellent way to start off spirit week.

Enthusiastic Pep Assembly

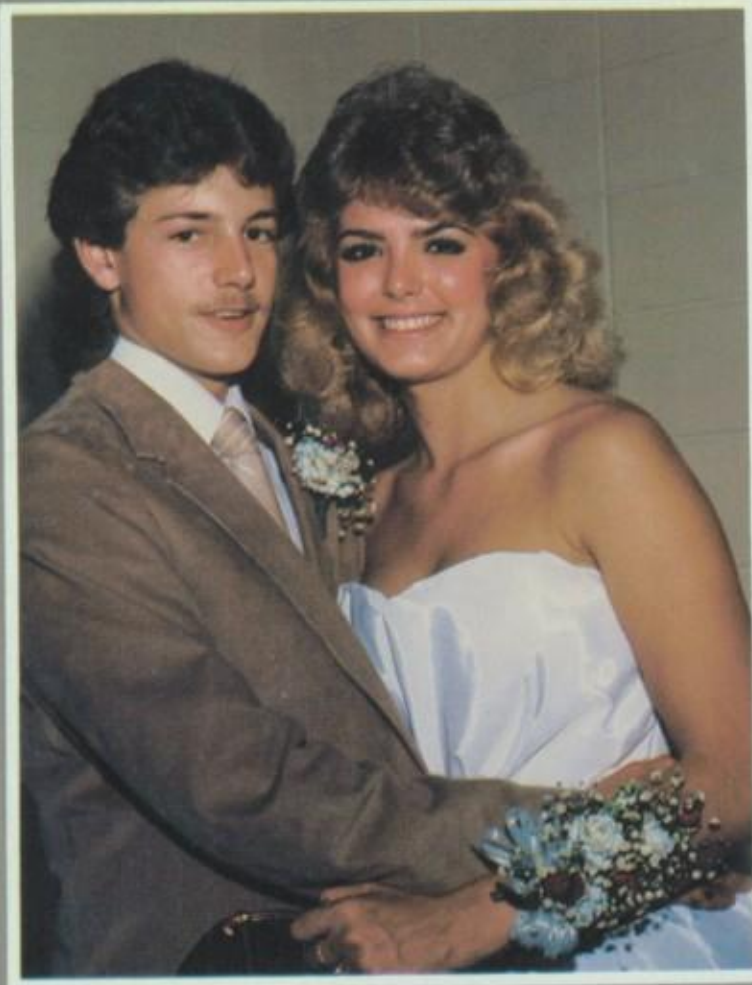

Echo Staff 1986

In the gym where it takes place, cheerleaders, football players, band members, and color guards are what create the enthusiasm of our Pep Assemblys. During these celebrations, the cheerleaders and Pom-Pons show their John Glenn spirit. Then the football players are introduced to the rest of the school. After that the band plays the fight song a few times so the crowd gets rowdy, and the flags show their true colors.

Smiles and Laughter Amid "Autumn Leaves"

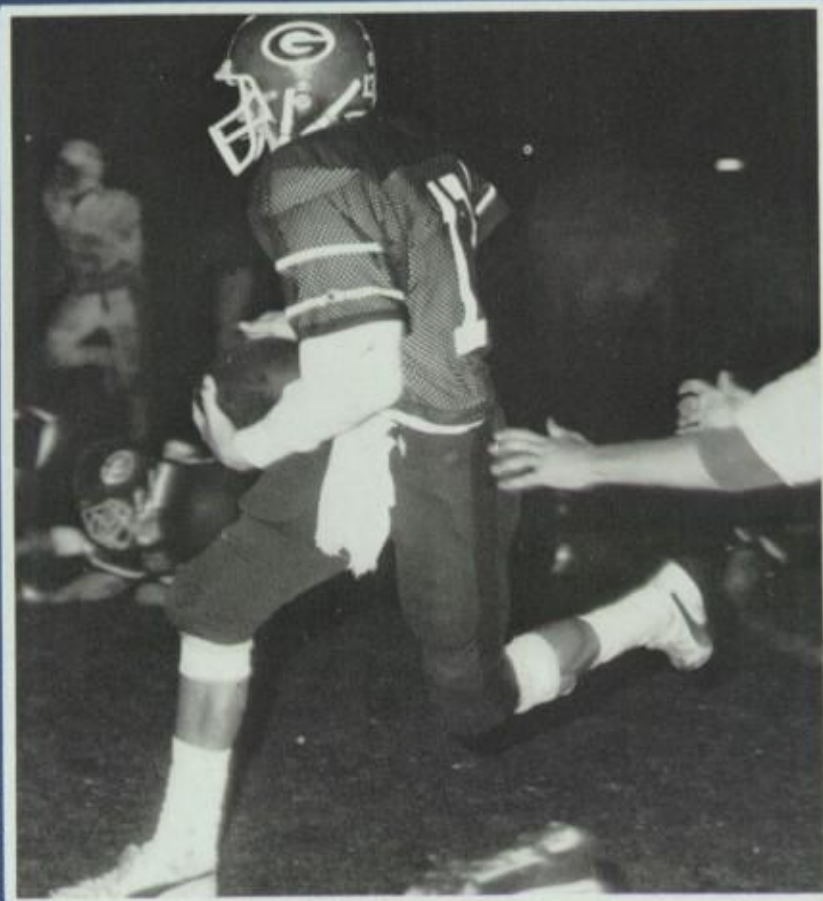

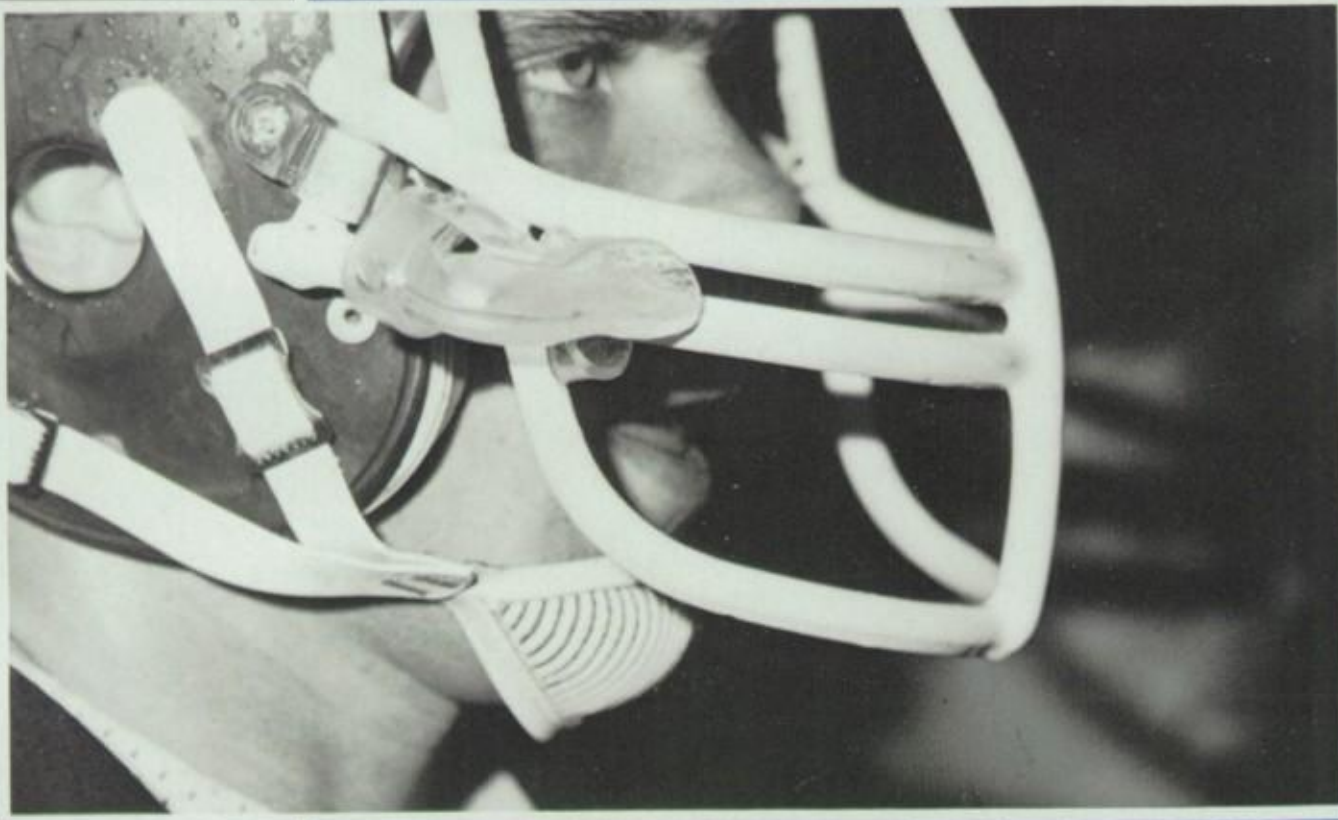

Our 1985 Homecoming Dance, which was titled "Autumn Leaves" was a great way finish Homecoming Week. Honored guests along with students appeared at the dance with the 'victory' spirit.

During the dance pictures were taken and the Homecoming Queen and her court was presented. Friends gathered to laugh and dance together. When the dance ended, friends and their dates went out to dinner as a conclusion to the evening. It was a great night and everyone enjoyed themselves.

Varsity Baseball Has . . . A Grand Slamming Season

The Rocket's pitcher prepares to serve his pitch.

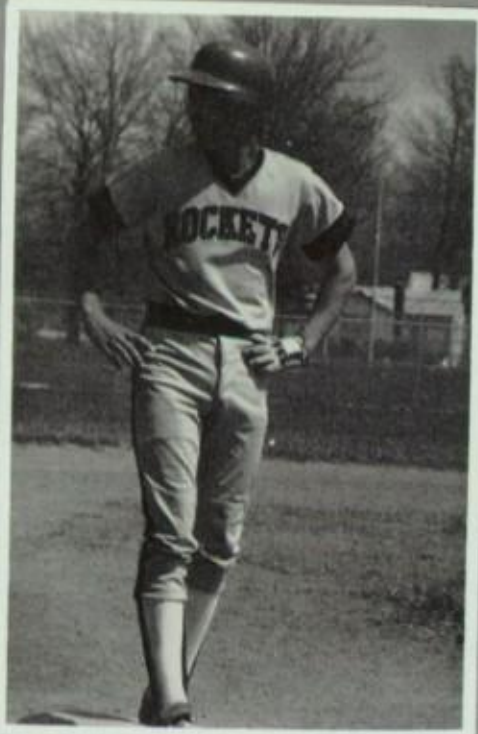

The John Glenn Varsity Baseball team got off to a quick start in 1985. They were led by Steve Irwin, David Husak, William Barber, Cass Simpson, and Charles Hammontree to a second place finish in one of the toughest leagues in the state, the Northwest Suburban League. The team finished the year with an eighteen and eight overall record.

Last year's team has seven returning lettermen, which will help the team out in the new Western Lakes Activity Association. The outlook for the season is a good one, especially with the strong returning pitching from last year.

The Junior Varsity Baseball team pounded out a fantastic season last spring. They entered the season with a seven to six win over Ypsilanti, and continued on their winning way to take twelve out of seventeen games. The spring team practiced in the Northwest Suburban League and finished second.

The rockets were dynamic, and much credit can go to Coach Tom Halls.

Although the competition was fierce, the John Glenn Rockets showed their mettle by their fantastic performance.

The Boys Track team had a well rounded season in 1985. The team displayed excellant sportsmanship during all of their meets, which is a tradition in all of John Glenn's athletics. John Glenn is proud of it's track team just as any other sport, and we hope that they will keep up the sportsmanship and especially the winning spirit.

This season the teams record was 6-3, which definatly displays that winning spirit. Keep going the distance that keeps John Glenn proud.

Glenn's Varsity Tennis team had a harder time than ever during the 1985 season. The main reason was a shortage of players. Compared to any other school, we had the smallest team in the league. But, each player tried extremely hard. No one ever missed a tennis practice or match. The slogan was, "Keep the ball in the court, and hit it over the net."

Rocket's key players were Seniors Hyoung Park and Todd Nelepka, and Sophomore Andrew Grazulis. They were able to defeat most of their league opponents.

GONG SHOW

The 1985 Gong Show achieved great success. Many talented students gave their best attempt to entertain and delight the audience. Acts which displayed and participated in the 1985 Gong Show were: break-dancing; imitations of your favorite stars, rock groups; performing songs; and comedy routines.

All that were involved with the show did a fantastic job! If as much participation and enthusiasm is continued, the Gong Show will be an even bigger success in 1986.

Senior Prom memories last a lifetime. It is one of the most important things remembered when recalling high school years. This dance is always remembered because it is the last time seniors see each other at their best.

On the night of the prom, beautiful persons make their entrance in tuxedos, or long gowns wearing beautiful flowers carefully chosen by their escorts. Gentlemen give their ladies the best that money can buy.

Throughout this lovely evening, these ordinary John Glenn students become, for a few short hours, the most handsome escorts and the most beautiful ladies.

As the night comes to a close, memories are made, and the night of the Senior Prom will be remembered for as long as they live.

Congratulations to you the Class of 1986! I wish to extend my appreciation to each and everyone of you for your fine leadership throughout the 1985-86 school year. As a class you have distinguished yourselves through your outstanding academic achievements and your mature acceptance of responsibility. You have further achieved success in the field of athletics and through your participation in many excellent fine arts programs. You make John Glenn High School one of the finest high schools in the state of Michigan. This year has been exciting and extremely rewarding. The experiences were memorable. I enjoyed sharing your success, triumphs, and many, many accomplishments. You have gained the necessary tools to succeed in the years ahead.

I believe that you are now ready to meet the opportunities of the future and accomplish your goals. The door is now open; the path is clear. Go forward with pride and dignity, always striving to do your best. I personally wish that each of you will remember your fond years at John Glenn High School.

John Glenn's Secretaries Keep Matters Organized

David Mytych

For the last time, Mr. Fife is out.

No, Brad Z doesn't go here.

You have no classes?!

If there is one group of people at John Glenn High School who have an "open door" policy, it is that group of very helpful people we call "the secretaries." From 7:00 a.m. until 4:00 p.m. Lights burn in the general office, the counseling office, and the Media Center. But, this year the secretaries are doing a fine job by keeping up to date on their duties in the offices. But, these secretaries don't perform the duties that most of us think of as the job of a secretary. Very often their offices are filled with the sounds of typewriters and telephones ringing because the J.G. secretarial staff works with people along with machines. The secretaries help out by helping the administrators around the offices. And they're doing a fine job by helping students with their problems and scheduling this year at John Glenn.

The Science department at John Glenn High School offers many different courses in the field of science. Most high school sciences help the student to learn how the scientific method works and how our industrial society uses it. Some of these classes available would include Biology, Chemistry and Physics, Astronomy, Human physiology and Geology are more popular to students who want to further their knowledge in the science field. Science is one of the most rewarding careers a young person can choose. There are many job opportunities because science holds such an important place in modern life.

The Industrial Arts Work Well in In Woods

There are many Industrial Arts classes offered at John Glenn. Beginning classes include Woods, Drafting, Electronics, and Auto Shop. For the more advanced students, Voc. Tech. offers more classes. By going to the Vocational Center, many job opportunities become available.

As you can see, many courses are available. Industrial Arts can be used for a start in the industrial field or just for a life long hobby. John Glenn has the class that is fitted for you.

Educating the students to do everyday activities such as cooking, sewing, and caring for themselves, is the goal of the Human Ecology Department. Those that are looking forward to a homemaking career and raising a family, or maybe just want to learn to manage a home, can get all of these skills from the courses offered here.

Skills such as food preparation and presentation, dressmaking, child development and care, and leading healthy productive lives. The Human Ecology Department explains the foresights of the future. Students find these classroom activities to be interesting, fun, rewarding, and very useful when thinking of life after graduation.

There's More To The Media Center Than Meets The Eye

What does the IMC mean to you? For some people, it means working hard on a research paper. To others, it means finding good books to read. But there's more to the IMC than meets the eye.

There are materials for research; for example, careers, the colleges that you are interested in going to, and information on the military.

The IMC can give you assistance on almost anything you need to find out; for example, addresses of political figures, organizations, etc.

So next time you need to find out about something and you don't know where to go, try the IMC and you might be surprised.

The Physical Education Department Is Physically Fit

John Glenn High School offers many physical education classes. The three general classes are Individual Lifetime Sports, Fall Team Sports, and Spring Team Sports. Two of these classes must be taken in order to graduate because of the requirement of one full year of physical education. There is a wide variety of sports that these classes play. For instance, the team sports would play football, basketball, softball, etc.. The individual sports would play golf, archery, volleyball, etc.. We also have physical training for students who wish to tone their bodies. John Glenn also offers tech classes, but these classes are usually only chosen by those students who already are participants in that sport. The Physical Ed. department is great and the staff encourages all students to get involved.

Special Education Is Putting In Lots of Overtime

Even for the most talented of us here at John Glenn, keeping up with the work is a full-time job. But for some of us hard-working students, it is overtime ALL of the time. When the routine of fine academic classes becomes impossible to take, most of us can take a break legally. But there are Rockets who are still hard at it. We can exercise our love of music in the choir, orchestra and band. We can dance gracefully as well as aerobically. We can Condition our bodies in weight-training and recondition them in Self. We can even get melodramatic about it in Drama. But while we are feeling good about getting better, our fellow special education people are feeling good about just getting there.

It may take a full day of conditioning, practice, and rehearsal, but the special ed people get it right. Regardless of the time, energy, or the stamina it takes, they work with a spirit that many of us envy.

Jeffrey Nelson

The John Glenn Business Department continues to forge ahead and maintain its place on the "cutting edge" of academia and industry. Combined with Co-op and the Gantry, the school retail store, the department has quickly developed into the premier Business Education program in the state. The Department provides progressive and innovative courses in Accounting, Automated Office Procedures, Business Law, Marketing and Secretarial Sciences.

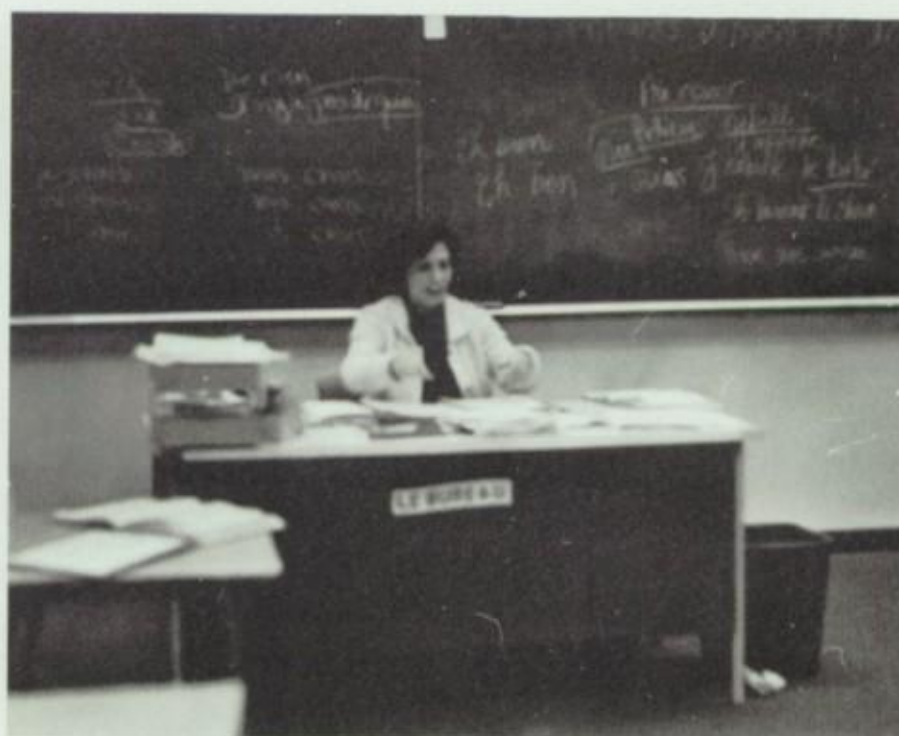

In addition, curriculum offered at John Glenn High School has developed a strong merger with the William D. Ford Vocational/Technical Center — a marriage that benefits both programs.

Working The Custodial

The custodians deserve all of our appreciation they can get. On those snowy mornings, a custodian has been out early shoveling the walkways to every entrance of the school. Throughout the day, the pop machines are reloaded by the custodians. Lights are repaired or replaced; cold heating vents are inspected; "emergencies" are cleared up and removed from sight quickly. The cafeteria is almost spotless within an hour. Overnight, the entire building is transformed. every bit of debris is removed from the halls and classrooms. In the evenings gyms are set up for athletic meets and cleaned before the following day.

Each morning we enter easily a clean, well-maintained building and perhaps never realize the work finished by the custodians continually in the background of our daily activities. We think it is time to bring them out for a round of appreciation. We, on behalf of all John Glenn, would like to thank them for their pride in John Glenn and their loyalty to us.

Sometimes it is a dirty job. Somebody has to do it, but nobody does it as well as our custodians do it.

For The Students And Kitchen Staffs

Throughout the year, John Glenn's kitchen staff strives to give us a hearty, well-balanced meal.

Preparing food for 2,000 students is not an easy job!

Their job includes planning the menu and ordering the necessary items, ordering the a la carte items, cooking the food, and finally, selling it.

The kitchen staff has an important responsibility, and one can tell when this responsibility is fulfilled when you see the smile on the student's face.

From the time the students arrive in the morning and may need help entering the building, the paraprofessionals continue throughout the day to make sure that the students under their care make it through crowded halls and days that can be filled with strenuous therapy as well as academic work. At the close of the day they don't count the day as successful unless the students have been successful.

And for their caring and concern, we salute them and publicly express our appreciation. We hope every one of their days is a good day.

Getting A

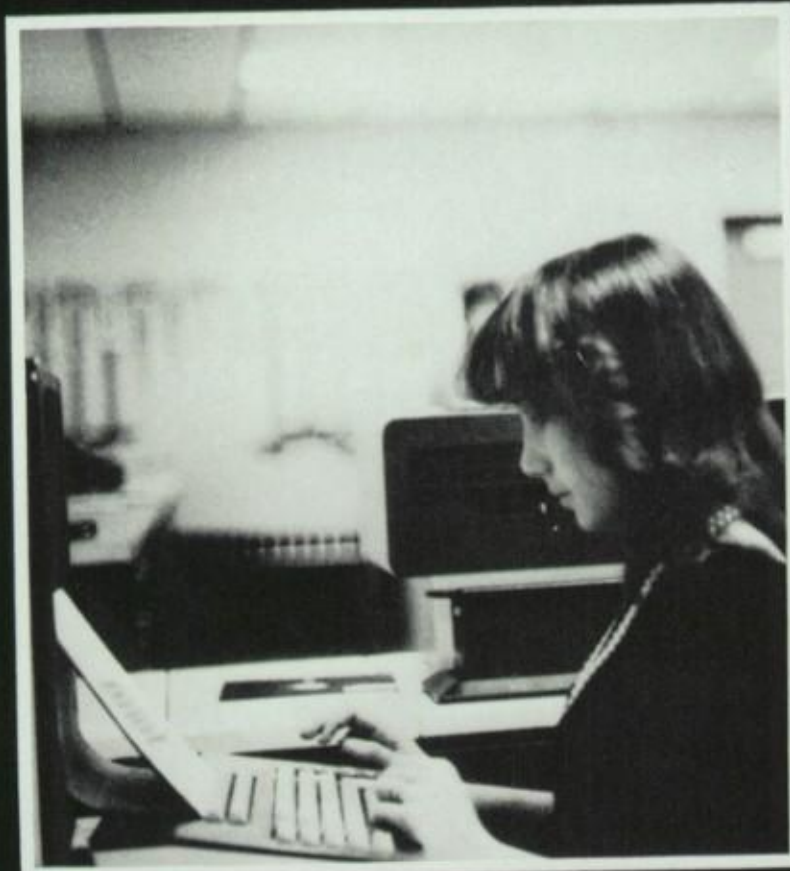

The Vocational Technical Center is a place where John Glenn students can get a head start in the working world. The center "opens the door" to opportunity for students who seek to have a vocational skill. They can use these skills for many different reasons like working as an apprentice to a company.

Vo. Tech. offers numerous technical job skills ranging from Medical Procedures to Culinary Arts to Auto Mechanics. And the students use these skills, along with the hands on training they also have, in the professional world.

Oh good! It's even!

Head Start

While teaching some 800 students, the Voc. Tech. also teaches 900 hundred adult students who are also involved in learning technical skills. The skills that these students learn are very helpful. They can help in certain careers and fields and also help to build good work habits and ethics.

The students of Voc. Tech. see the learning and the "hands on" experience to be a real help in getting a job and/or going to college. The learning helps on job application and in having start ahead of the crowd.

The Sattelite Staff blasts off each year by producing a publication which holds the fond moments of our high school years. To create such a publication takes time, patience, and dedication on the part of each and every staff member. Each member may develop a new skill or refine an old one by working with all aspects which contribute to a publication such as a yearbook.

This year the Sattelite's format has changed greatly by placing the supplement inside the book rather than as a separate magazine. This change is just one of the many which has enhanced the books appearance.

All in all, the Sattelite staff hopes that everyone will enjoy the 1986 edition of the John Glenn Sattelite, which in future years will hold the precious memories of our high school days.

Of course the competition for Concert Choir is stiff, of course only the finest singers at John Glenn are members of Concert Choir ...

But, what happens to the fine singers who don't make the cut? Do they give up the chance to become even better singers? Of course not!

Many become the Women's Ensemble. A small self-chosen group of singers who still love to sing.

Since they are a women's group, this allows them to sing more feminine songs. Their routines are of their own design. Even when they are not singing, they take advantage of their fine voices to raise funds for their robes and new music.

The Women's Ensemble's singing is a gift to John Glenn. It may come in a small package, but it makes a big, beautiful sound!

Few Sing As Well As Chamber Singers

Sean Heady and Lisa Warrix enjoy their solo.

The Chamber singers open doors each time that the choir room is open. They are the doors to personal self expression.

Just as a flutist must tune his instrument, a singer too must tune his voice. When a singer is good at what he does, nothing can match the sense of fulfillment that he feels.

No matter what time of day a Chamber Singer is always reaching a new musical height. This elite group is extremely talented and have received many superior ratings.

Being in the Academy Choir can open up new doors to learning. For some it may be learning to read music. For others, it may be doing a solo or going to a festival for the first time. For these students, the door may just be open a crack, but with patience the door may open fully.

When many sophomores singers come to John Glenn and wish to be in choir, which one do they pick? The Academy Choir, of course!! Almost anyone interested in being in choir may join. After the first semester, a singer may try out for the Concert Choir. During tryouts, a new singer is only asked to sing some scales and a song. This group of singers may only be beginners but they sure do not sound like it!! The Academy Choir consists of anywhere from forty to sixty altos, sopranos, tenors and basses.

The Academy Choir members become very talented and versatile. They can sing anything from a loud ballad to an upbeat rock song. They also accompany the other choirs to concerts, competitions, and assemblies. Versatile, talented, and sixty voices strong — who could ask for more?

Concert Choir

Concert Choir is the most prestigious and most active choir at John Glenn. Throughout the year the choir presents many concerts.

In January, the students may sign up for solo and ensemble to compete for individual scores. They also attend a choir festival. There, they get a group rating. During the year the choir sings many songs ranging from classical to modern music. From all the work the choir has done this year, the songs they found to mean the most were: "Second Wind" and "America (the dream lives on)". They dedicated their performances to the seven astronauts lost on the space shuttle "Challenger".

The astronauts were living their dream when they died, and the choir was living theirs when they sang beautifully in their performances.

Bonjour. The French club consists of 98 members. As of the beginning of this school year, the French club has had several fund raisers: candles, Christmas ornaments & bells sold out of Current magazine and gold jewelry. This was an exciting year in the French club. In February, some members of the club and their guests visited Europe. They walked, talked, and shopped with the Europeans, discovered their way of life and had an all around great time. This year, as in past years, the French club dined at L'Auberge in Winsor, sampling fine French food. The French club concludes their exciting year by having a fun-filled excursion to Cedar Point.

For The German Club

The German Club consists of German students from Glenn and first year German students from Stevenson and Marshall Jr. Highs. To become a member, these students sell advent calendars near Christmas time. This money is used by the students in the spring when they go on their annual trip to Frankenmuth, Mich. After their third year of studying German, students may decide to take an actual trip to Germany where they will attend a German school and study the native language. Because of the high cost of the trip, Frau Kelly sells Christmas and Valentine's Day cookies and uses the profit to aid students who decide to go to Germany. She bases the amount each person going will receive upon their ability to communicate in German, their grades in class, and their score on the German ACT test which is taken in early January. For the people who choose to go, the trip will be one they will always remember.

This year's Forensic team was off to a great start with more than forty people expressing interest. Throughout the first semester team members who were a part of the Oral Interpretation of Literature class diligently prepared scripts for the upcoming season and the State Pentathlon in Ann Arbor. With the coming of the second semester, the team launched into a full schedule of tournaments. Those who placed in any of the D.C.F.L.'s qualifying tournaments had the opportunity to go on to Baltimore for National Finals. Finally, at the close of the season, those who had earned enough points packed their bags and headed for the tournament at the Grand Hotel on Mackinaw Island. For three days the members of the team competed against hundreds of students from all over Michigan, reveled in the luxury of the Grand Hotel, and enjoyed the satisfaction of another productive season.

Tresspassing in Kansas.

This year, the student theatre company, the Theatrical Guild, a serious challenge and produced the play, The Island of Dr. Moreau. The Island of Dr. Moreau was melodramatic from the first dimming of the house lights to the lowering of the final curtain.

Sound effects were needed to re-create the eeriness of the evil island. Special lighting was required to transform the auditorium into a miniature world of mystery. Then, the actors took over, bringing to life the evil genius, Dr. Moreau, and his not-so-helpless victims. Together the actors and the technicians of the Theatrical Guild re-created a story of one of man's most dangerous problems, his need to be the best.

We at John Glenn take great pride in our attempts to be best. In the Island of Doctor Moreau, the Theatrical Guild gave us a chance to it and observe what happens when a person believes that he is the best. But we still believe they are one of the finest student theater companies.

Lookout Hollywood!

John Glenn High School has an outstanding Fine Arts Curriculum! A major event for the drama students is the annual fall play. Under the direction of drama instructor, Lois Tobin, This year's production was entitled, "The Island of Doctor Moreau" Boasting a cast of 29, the play was an exceptional show. Leading the cast were: Brian Burket, Pamela Cardell, Charles Greene, Larissa Seifert, and Kris Unger.

Excellent crews of props, lights, and make-up created an aura of professionalism; Of course the supervision of Mrs. Tobin was the key to success.

David Myrtych

The entire cast will never forget the closeness we shared, the opening night jitters, and the cast party afterwards.

With the last flash of lights came a miracle; the "problems" were solved, all the "suffering" was forgotten, and we went onto the J.G. stage and jammed! It was magic! The feeling we had made everything negative seem so distant. Indeed we were a success! I'm sure the lessons learned will help us out in Hollywood!

The National Honor Society Exhibit Leadership, Scholarship And Character

Being a member of the National Honor Society is considered one of the highest honors that can be awarded to a high school student. To become a member of the Honor Society, a student must obtain at least a 3.75 grade point average and get recommendations from ten faculty members. Each individual is not only a leader of the school, they are also involved with many school activities such as team sports, band, and student government.

The National Honor Society raises their funds from flower sales throughout the school year. With that money we visit the Hillberry Theater, Greek Town, and The Detroit Institute of Art. It is very educational and it also gives us a chance to get to know other members.

The Marching Band season begins two weeks before school opens. First, they learn easy marching skills so the beginners know a little bit before they go to camp.

At camp the band learns & memorizes their music. Then they start to learn their routine. During camp, sophomores are inducted into the band.

The Glenn "Big Band" competes with other bands in the area at competitions. This year the drum major received "The Best Drum Major Award" at the Eisenhower High School Competition, which is a great honor.

John Glenn invites bands to their half-time revue without the pressure of competing because it's only an exhibition.

For the first time this year the John Glenn held a band competition.

Great Honors Given To Marching Band

Setting The Pace Percussion

As the state ranked Rocket football team moved steadily toward the state playoffs, the top-ranked Rocket Marching Band maneuvered just as smoothly on the same turf during the half-time show. Stepping to the steady beat of the J.G. percussion, the marching band continued to march proudly throughout the year.

This essential beat is set dependably by the fifteen musicians who do more than just pound on drums. As well as the regular drums, the percussionists strike the cymbals, toll the bells, and skillfully play the tri-toms.

Since the percussionists are such an important part of the marching band, their training and development are important too. As their coaches, three former Glenn percussionists returned to council and share their experiences.

What is a Marching Band without its Color Guard? Is it much more than a group of musicians in uniform moving precisely through different patterns? Maybe. But it is the Color Guard that leads the way onto the field or down Wayne Road. We can hear, the spirited music but it is that proud line of flags that first drawn our attention and keeps it on the band maneuvers into the positions. Together, they form a strong team showing John Glenn's pride in its musicians, its athletes, and in itself.

We would like to return the salute to co-captains Jennifer Grant and Mary Niecarz and their 1986 Color Guard. We are proud of your pride. You represented the best in all of us.

It isn't easy to swing into jazz at 7:00 in the morning, but the members of the John Glenn Jazz Ensemble seems to enjoy blowing their own horns or receiving a bunch of callouses on their fingers, but to them it is worth it.

For the Jazz Ensemble, performing songs ranging from swing and upbeat rock to blues, is serious business. The development of a player into a creative musician is the business: "Jamming" an improvised solo or playing jazzy-harmony line on the trumpet is the reward.

The Jazz Ensemble can range from fifteen to twenty students. Most of them have a music class during the day, whether it be band, orchestra, or music theory.

The Jazz Ensemble consists of Trombones, Trumpets, Saxophones, Electric Guitar, Piano, and drums. Some of the members of the Jazz Ensemble commented that they really enjoy the class. Mr. Logan is a good teacher and the students are very talented. The real reward is when other students enjoy it.

An Endless Effort Symphony Band

Brita Ladd

Ready to begin.

Every good marching band musician sooner or later must hang-up his uniform and instrument. But about 80 of John Glenn's put on a new uniform—a tuxedo to be exact — and mounted the stage several times a year as players in the symphonic band. Of course, it takes time—more time than most players can afford. It takes what may seem like endless hours of practice. Of course it takes effort to switch from one music to another! But they're worth it!

The Symphonic Orchestra Is Top Notch Talent

When John Glenn writes its "greatest hits", the chances are that classical music isn't among its "Top 10." But when 65 musicians work steadily to play classical music well, we wish that more students would hear it, and maybe learn to appreciate it.

While working in class five days a week, the orchestra attends many workshops at Eastern Michigan University in the late fall. Here they learn more about their instruments and techniques. Here they also meet musicians from all over Michigan.

How does that go?

The Dance Company is an important part of John Glenn's well rounded Fine Arts Department. This year's dance company is a very cohesive group. They work well together and have shown great creative ability. These students show a real desire to improve and are highly self motivated. "Dancin' Jazz", their fall concert, was a great success. Dances ranged from jazz to classical ballet and finally to musical theater with kick lines, top hats, and canes. The members of this year's company should be proud. They have given beginning and intermediate students something to strive for. It has been a pleasure being their director.

Showing Originality And Spirit

Pom Pon Squad

The John Glenn pom pom squad really had the spirit this year. Although they play the same role as the cheerleaders in building this spirit, they use a very different approach. All of the pom pom routines usually have to do with music. They make up their own dance steps for all of their different routines. Then they dance in John Glenn's spirit during half-times at the football and basketball teams.

They, also like the cheerleaders put in about two hours of practice each afternoon. If their boom-boxes don't stop the traffic along the main hall, their dancing usually does. During the week before the annual donkey basketball game, some really strange looking pom pom members were seen practising. But they were no competition for the regular squad.

The squad, however, does meet stiff competition from other school squads at the close of each season. They are usually at their best filling down times with upbeat music and dancing. Their competitive routines surely arouse as much spirit in their opponents as they do in the audience at the game. And they leave those strange looking ones sitting on the sidelines!

Closeness, and, organization were major reasons to the success of this year's Junior Class. With concerned officers and representatives, the junior class began the year with style. A Hawaiian dance proved to be fun as well as profitable.

The next activity tackled was Homecoming. Student Council themed the float contest with children's television. Competition was tough, but participation gave us a slight edge. Using Kristin Smith's house as a base, we cut, tore, glued, and plastered. Our Bam-Bam float took first place!

Our winning float brought a winning attitude. We had done a great job. Paying attention to sound, movement, and lights impressed the judges.

When it came to the Prom, we had enough money to select a good location, nice tickets, and elegant decorations. Again hard work paid off.

A special thanks to our sponsor Mrs. Turnquist and Mr. Purcell for being the two most honored and dedicated members of the junior class! Class of '87, we're on our way!

Looking back on our three years here at John Glenn we all remember the good times shared friends. When we entered John Glenn everyone set high expectations for themselves, and our senior class is a well-rounded group of accomplisners. There wasn't anything too big that this class did not take the challenge of trying, and as a result, reaped many rewards. But, all of the hard work that we can so fondly look back on now, was all the result of involvement by the student body. Even though there are people chosen as officers to represent our class, it was your opinion and your help that actually made the class of '86 the great class that it turned out to be. We were elected to represent each one of you, and I felt very proud and honored to represent this class as its President. Good luck in all of your endeavors and may life bring nothing but great things to each of you.

Each year the Student Council is made up of twenty-three students from the entire school. These individuals are dedicated and involved with what is happening in the school. This year's council is no exception.

One of the most important events during the school year is Homecoming Week, sponsored by the Student Council. A lot of hard work is needed in order to plan and successfully pull off an event of this caliber. It takes a concentrated effort from the entire council. The student Council was up to the tasks. Money earned from events like this is put back into the school. Many of the various show-cases throughout the building have been purchased by past Student Councils.

Besides Homecoming, the Student Council is involved with the Gong Show and exchanges with other schools in the League. But it is important to remember why the Student Council exists. Representatives are elected in order to see that the needs and concerns of the individual classes are addressed.

The activities offered at John Glenn are varied greatly to include every student's interests. The majority of the programs are centered around music, sports, or dance. And perhaps these are what most of us think of when we ponder John Glenn's activities. But what most of us don't realize is that other classes and programs are available in other areas.

English students can participate in creating the school's yearbook and learn many new talents along the way. Everything from typing to writing copy to taking pictures can be taught and drawn upon again in other areas. Some have a chance to learn dark-room techniques after the yearbook is done in March.

The business department provides their DECA competitions and many students are involved in some way with the school's Gantry store. Here they can learn managing skills, book-keeping, and budgeting money in a business situation.

Taking Their Lives Seriously

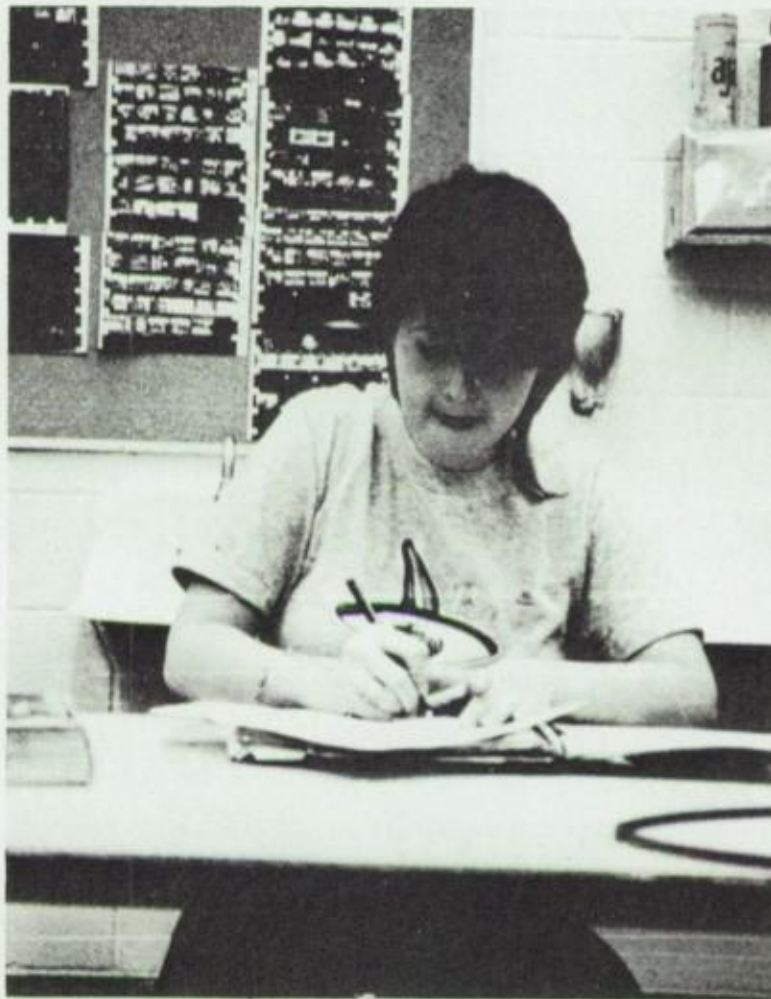

Then, of course, the Fine Art department boasts many band groups and choirs to participate in. The Dance Company performs twice every year and each member utilizes all the time they can afford for them.

The Ski Club borders on a sport, as does the Pom Pon squad. Maybe this is just because we associate skiing with physical exercise, and Pom Pon with the athletics they cheer on to victory. None the less, they are both considered activities.

And the language clubs here are unique in their own ways. The French Club went to Europe this year, and the Spanish Club worked on enhancing their language skills. The German Club sent several of their students to Germany this summer.

All in all, the extracurricular activities John Glenn students spend their time in either deal with their future or are an enjoyable way to relax after their homework is done.

Voluntary Testing Psat

The PSAT is an examination which is voluntary to junior and senior students of John Glenn High School. One major reason for taking this examination is to see if you can do well enough to become a National Merit Scholarship Finalist. If your plans as a high school student include attending college, then it would be advisable for you to take this examination.

has had semi-finalists and on other occasions, we have been proud to have a finalist.

-Tawnya Smith

Does Marrienne Cleaver comprehend math?

Each state has a different cut-off point in order to qualify as a semi-finalist or finalist for the National Merit Scholarship. Michigan's cut-off point is 190. Some states' cut-off point is 60. It is known that Michigan has the tenth highest score required to receive this award, therefore, there aren't as many finalists and semi-finalists in Michigan as there are in other states.

Beneficial To Learning Homework

Homework is a beneficial part of a student's learning, but everyone completes their homework differently. For instance there are the procrastinators, these are the students you'll find doing their second hour homework in first hour.

Then there are the conscientious ones who don't waste a moment of time to get straight to work. This type of student is known as the "brain".

In addition, there are also the reluctant types and the unwilling students who haven't even heard of the word homework.

All in all, it is almost clear that all of us fit into one of these categories, but the students of John Glenn High School still find time for homework along with working in time to spend with a friend.

The Rockets Are Rockin' Again The Junior Class Sets The Beat

Over recent years, John Glenn High School had not had a dance that did not follow the routine of usual dances such as Homecoming and the Junior and Senior Proms. So, the Class of 1987 decided to do something about it. The representatives for the Class of 1987 decided that since there hadn't been a dance in quite awhile, this would be a change of pace.

The Junior class decided to sponsor an all school dance for the student body. But, the major problem was getting everyone involved. Having fun and getting acquainted with others from the John Glenn student body were the main goals.

Advisors for the Junior class, Mr. Purcell and Mrs. Turnquist, suggested to the dance committee that the dance be a big event. Announcements were made, posters were displayed and the word was passed, it was coming. Tickets were sold in advance and at the door to make sure there would be numerous opportunities for the entire student body to participate.

On the night of September 23, 1985, the night of the big event, the dance ticket sales rose considerably and students were arriving. Friends were met and new friends were made, and from 7:30pm to 10:00pm everyone had a real good time, dancing, talking, romancing or just "cooling out".

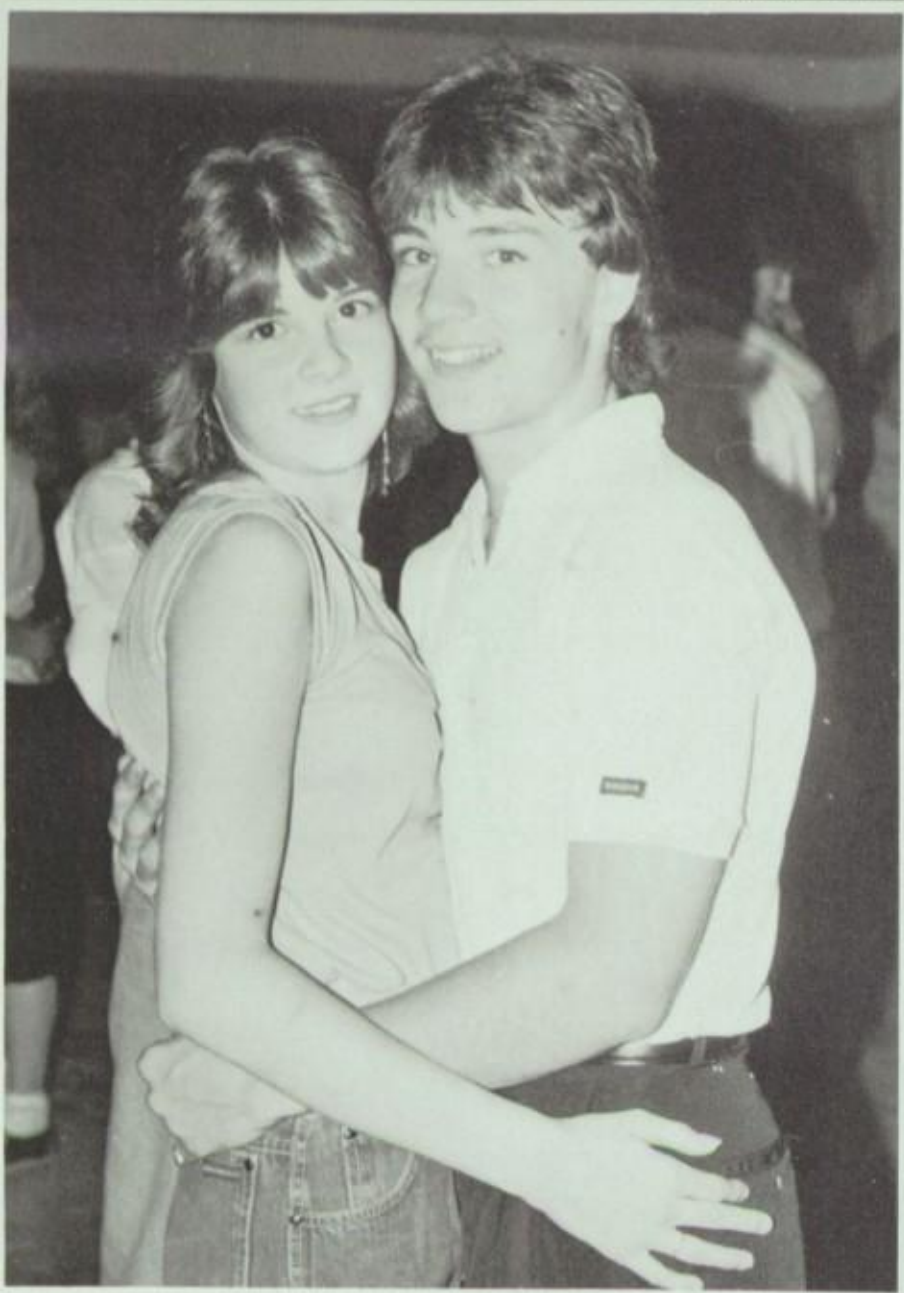

All in all, the dance made a big impact on the entire student body even though the dance only lasted for two and a half hours. The memories of music and fun will restart John Glenn's feet dancing again.

In Memory Of . . .
Sheila Weeg

Sheila Weeg was one of three victims fatally injured in a drunk driving related accident on July 1, 1985.

A former sophomore at John Glenn, Sheila had much respect from her friends and teachers. In junior high, Sheila excelled in track and softball. She was an avid reader and had a love for animals. Sheila is sorely missed and will not be forgotten.

What Do We Keep In Them? Lockers

Lockers are one of the most important things we use at school. They hold our books, coats, and many other various things. But what do we really keep in them?

When walking down the hall, you may see pictures of famous people, stickers of a favorite cartoon character, along with other unmentionable things, and some lockers are deadly to open at all!

So, as you walk down the hallway to get to your locker, or to class, look at other people's lockers, you would be surprised at what's in them.

It Benefits You Testing

When students hear others say They're having a test in one of their classes, people say things like, "Hope you studied".

Testing, believe it or not, is good for learning, it has been shown that people who don't get tested on things they learn, have difficulties remembering.

The only way testing hurts you is if you don't make an attempt to learn and won't benefit you unless you pay attention. So, next time think about what you're being tested on, you may be surprised.

Sophomore's Amazing

Enjoying a snack while they patiently wait for their ride home.

Kyle Szukaitis

This year wasn't so bad for the John Glenn Sophomore class. There were many students who made special achievements in business, academics, athletics, and the arts. Some received money, some publicity, and others got something much more, the satisfaction of knowing that they have excelled where others have not. For the most part, these achievements were sought only for personal advancement, and not for any material award.

When the German ACT was given to all German students here at John Glenn, Rebecca Donnelly was ready. She scored 97 out of 100 surpassing all of the juniors and even the seniors scores. For this very special accomplishment, she will receive a $400 scholarship to visit Germany this summer for one month. But for every up, there's a down; if Rebecca was sixteen when she took the test, she would have been awarded $1,400. Nevertheless, she has found other means to raise the money, and is planning for her trip in June.

Accomplishments

Several sophomores also raised a fuss in the athletics department, too. Arlis Cooper and Kathleen Fuller were talented enough to be put on the varsity squad. Christopher Zimmerman achieved the highest score at the wrestling district competition of any sophomore at John Glenn. Jeffrey Graham showed Coach Gordon that he was good enough to make the varsity football team.

Back to the business department, Mr. Vladu had better watch out. Joe Richardson will probably want to take a few courses in business management since he sold the most cookies during the sophomore cookie sale. The $50 reward was incentive enough for him to sell 560 boxes of cookies.

And finally, Melinda Fitzgerald made her name known with her artistic ability in Mr. Hockings class. Some of her artwork can be seen from time to time in the front showcase. Craig Smith excelled in Choir to the Chamber singers, in itself a wonderful accomplishment for a sophomore.

Yes, this year John Glenn was very good to its sophomores.

Now let's see what they will do in the next years!

The 1985-86 basketball season was a shocker. The Villanova Wildcats shocked the NCAA basketball league when they upset the Georgetown Hoyas to win the National Championship. Then a month later, our own John Glenn Rockets shocked the Western Lakes league when they upset the Farmington Harrison Hawks in a championship game described by sports reporters as "breathless".

The slow start of the season may have been discouraging to us, but it did not demoralize the team. Recovering from two losses, Coach Gordon Davis steadily and carefully prepared his team for the February 28th shocker. They crushed the rumors in the decisive 69-49 win against Farmington and became a strong team to be taken seriously.

Throughout the rest of the season, they set the record straight. Obviously the Harrison Hawks took them seriously in the final showdown. They weren't shocked. They had expected the Rocket's championship ball-handling and shooting.

They were probably left "breathless". Maybe they were speechless, too.

What ball!

Often we compare the "junior varsity" teams to their older, more experienced "varsity" teammates, and when we do, they usually come up short—short on talent, short on ability, as well as experience. But this year, we didn't dare compare the men's basketball teams. Although the varsity team was playing steadily toward the first Western Lakes league championship, the "jv" team was building steadily, preparing to take its place beside the champs.

And they made their point! Although the season record wasn't as spectacular as the varsity champs, they maintained the old tradition that what John Glenn wants, John Glenn works to get! The varsity championship was called "breathless". The jv team would agree, but they would also smile and remark "Were you surprised?"

Working For Perfection J.V. Cheerleaders

Regina Lane smiles after a homecoming victory.

For the first time at John Glenn, cheerleaders had two individual tryouts. The J.V. cheerleaders consists of a squad made up of both juniors and sophomores. Each cheerleader must maintain a high scholastic average. They must also demonstrate a proficiency in gymnastics.

The final results, seen by the crowd, on Tuesday or Friday night, is the product of many hours of practice. It takes a certain dedication and a willingness to give one's all to turn eleven individuals into a squad which works together and produces excellent results.

This year's J.V. cheerleaders have managed to do just that. They are a hard working and dedicated group of young women. We hope that John Glenn is as proud of them as they are of being a part of John Glenn.

Give A Cheer For Glenn's

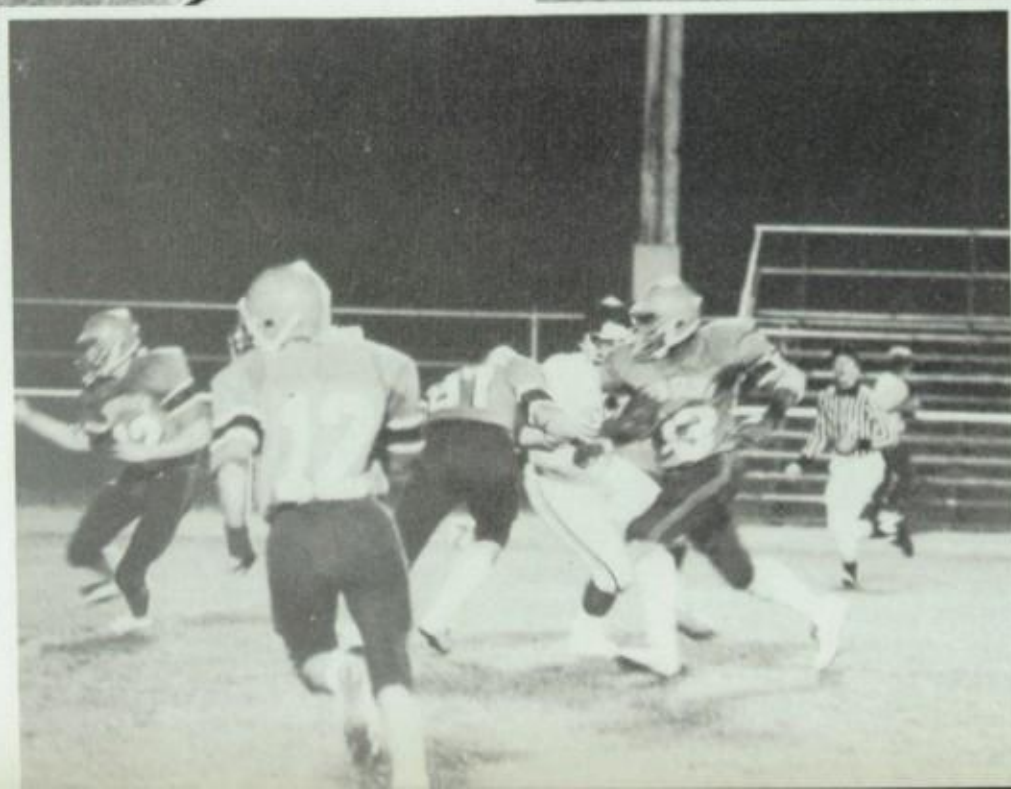

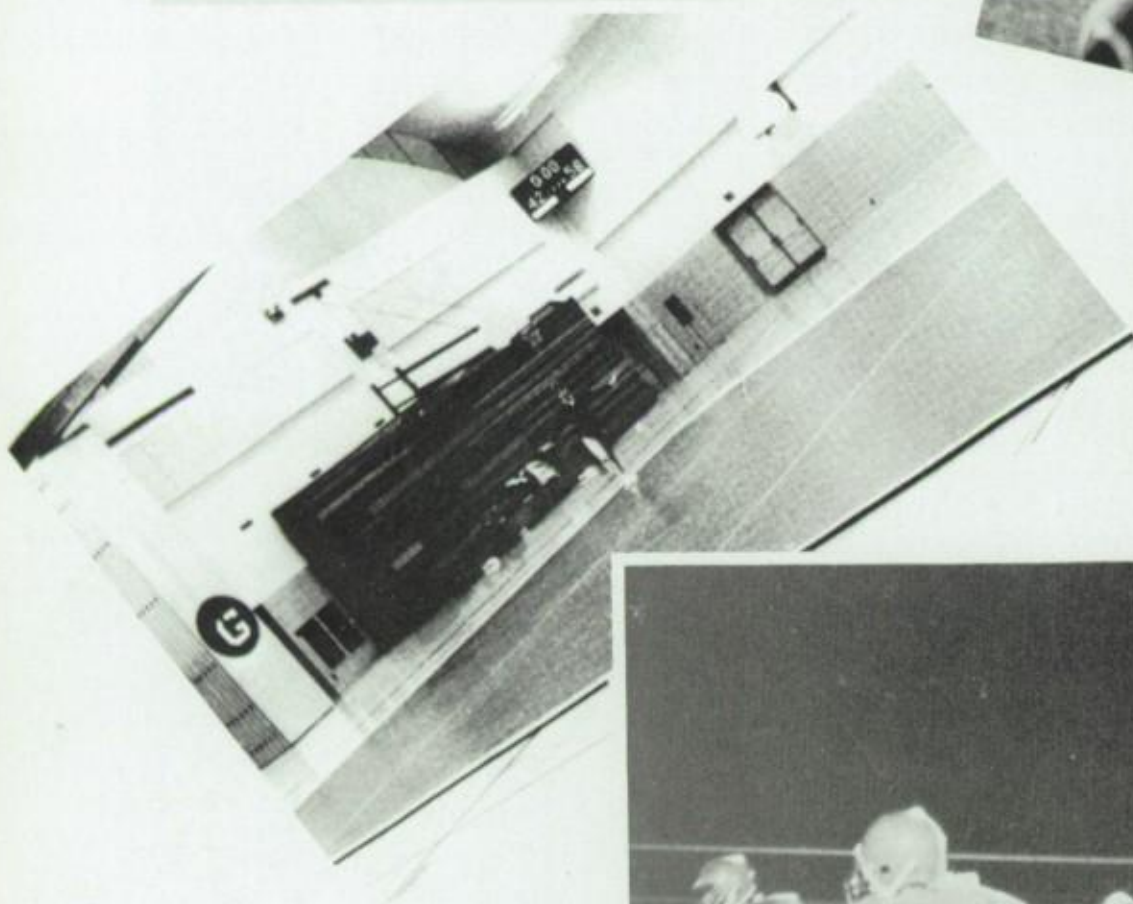

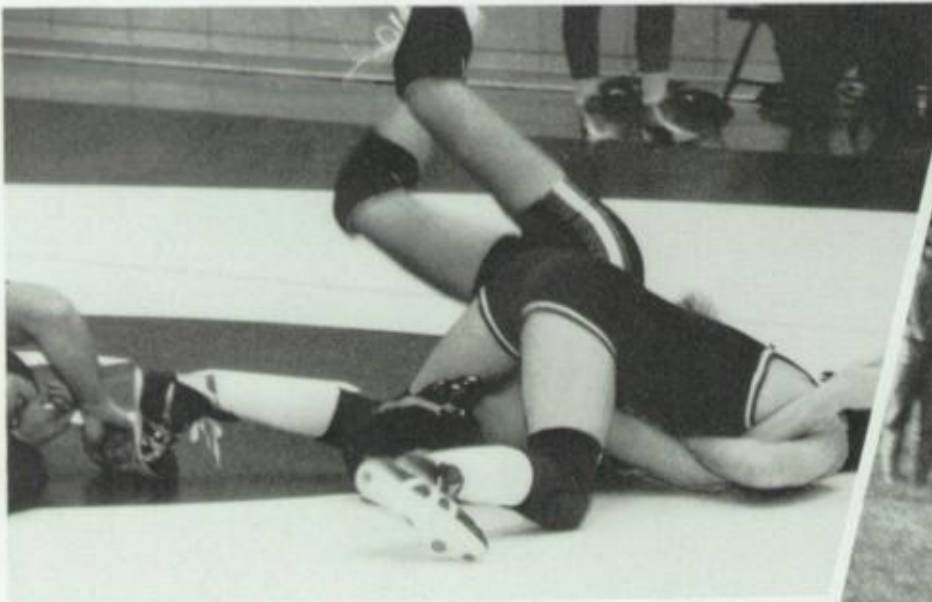

This was one successful year for the John Glenn sports teams. To start the year off, our illustrious football team completed an undefeated season, and went onto district competition in Ann Arbor at Pioneer High School. And although Pioneer came out on top, our team did unexpectedly well, ending the game only two touchdowns behind Ann Arbor.

Then the winter sport season rolled around and brought with it more good news for Glenn. Our 1985-86 Gymnastics team went on to regional competition in Jackson, Michigan in March. Our Volleyball team also went on to regionals in that same month, and our hopes and good wishes went with them.

The 1985 J.V. football team were outstanding in their first season in the WLAA. Under Head Coach Todd DeLuca, the team recorded a perfect 9-0 record and captured three championship titles in the new league. They first clinched the division by defeating Plymouth Salem 34-14, and then went on to win the league championship by defeating Farmington Harrison with an impressive 14-0 victory. They recorded their third title by defeating Wayne Memorial 27-13 to win the City Championship. The team worked well together and their record shows it. There were many players who stood out during the 1985 season. The MVP's for the season were: Kenneth Jones, offense, Kurt Kuban and Christopher Scheffer, defense, and Donald Sprinkle, kicking team.

The Varsity Girl's Basketball team started the season strong, winning their first four games. All of their hard work throughout the year helped them achieve a 14-7 record for the season. The mid-season retirement of George Sommerman resulted in Pat Bennett taking the head coaching job. Bennett's coaching experience kept the girls winning. The girl's high energy and spirit helped during the change of coaches.

Bennett led the varsity squad to the Class A district game against Garden City. The Lady Rockets tried their best but just could not keep up with the Cougars. The Rockets put up a great fight near the end but Garden City kept on scoring. So their season ended with a 52-41 defeat.

The Girls J.V. Basketball team coached by Pat Bennett had a stupendous season this year. They finished 16-2 at the close of the season, and although their hopes were higher, they captured the number two spot in the league.

This years' team consisted of nine sophomores and two juniors. As is obvious from the scores, this was a winning combination.

The Girls only loses were both in the league and to only one team-Salem. So it looks as though next year could be another winning year for John Glenn's Women's Basketball as these girls move up to the varsity level.

Maneuvers A Reversal

Glenn's dual meet season was 7-6-1. While the team did not win any tournament championships, they placed well in each event. Highlights include a third place finish in the league and fourth fifth place finishes at the State District And Regional tournaments respectively.

Glen Cemazar and Daniel Schimansky, Mark Kropp, and Christopher Zimmerman all won individual league titles. Daniel, Mark, and Christopher also qualified for the State Tournament. Perhaps most rewarding of all was Dan Schimansky's entry into the Century Club. Daniel became the only the fourth wrestler in John Glenn history to win over 100 matches.

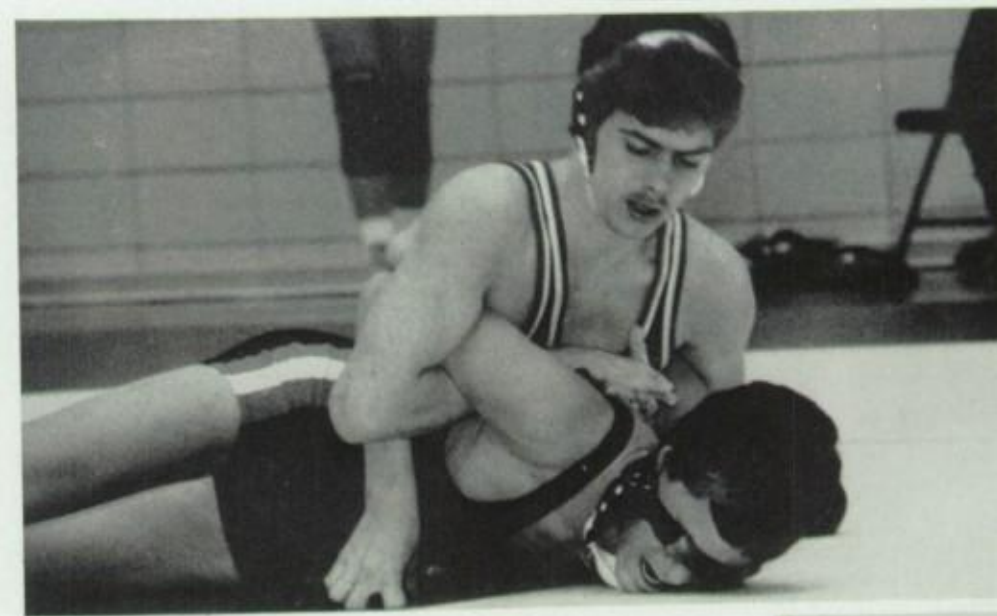

And things look even better for the future. Christopher Zimmerman is only a sophomore. In addition, sophomores Michael Daniels, Jeffrey Allen, Charles Lauber, and Shane Lacanaria had fine years.

Pulled Together And Worked Hard

Varsity

Having separate try-outs for both football and basketball season has worked out very well. I feel because of this, we have an exceptional basketball squad. Unfortunately they were unable to attend camp or competitions, but they still pulled together and worked well as a mature squad. Not only did they excel in their cheerleading skills, but they also had exceptional grade point averages.

To all the seniors who are about to graduate, I wish you the best of luck in whatever aspect of life you choose.

"Big Red" Wrestling long ago earned their nickname. Every meet has been expected to be a display of strength and agility. Often the wrestler's struggles for position could be called "graceful". But seldom would they be called "acrobatic" and never "beautiful". Never that is until the arrival of the Wrestling Cheerleaders who have become an important part of John Glenn's wrestling program. Suddenly the wrestling meets have really become something to see.

The 1985-1986 season was a good one for this year's squad. It wasn't by chance that their sixteen girls have added much to the meets. More than seventy girls participated in tough try-outs, and once the squad was chosen, the girls raised over 1200 dollars through their fund-raisers such as candy and flower sales, walk-a-thon, and bake sales. With their funds, the squad purchased their new sweaters.

In addition, during this time, many hours were spent developing and learning cheers, the scoring system, and managing a meet.

Since only one squad member graduated this year, next year's team will be equally as good, if not better. The hard work and time involved will again give each girl a sense of accomplishment and pride. The friendships formed will again last long after the season has closed.

And Coach Buck will again face the problem of keeping the audience's attention revited on the wrestlers.

Varsity Volleyball

Worth The Effort

The John Glenn Varsity volleyball team finished its 85-86 season with a 27-10 record overall. We had a 9-1 record in the regular season and ended up division champions. We have worked very hard to receive this title and feel it is a great achievement since we entered the new Western Lakes conference this year.

Our season lasts four months. We begin training in December and end in March. During this time we practice three to four days a week with games on Mondays and Wednesdays and tournaments on Saturdays.

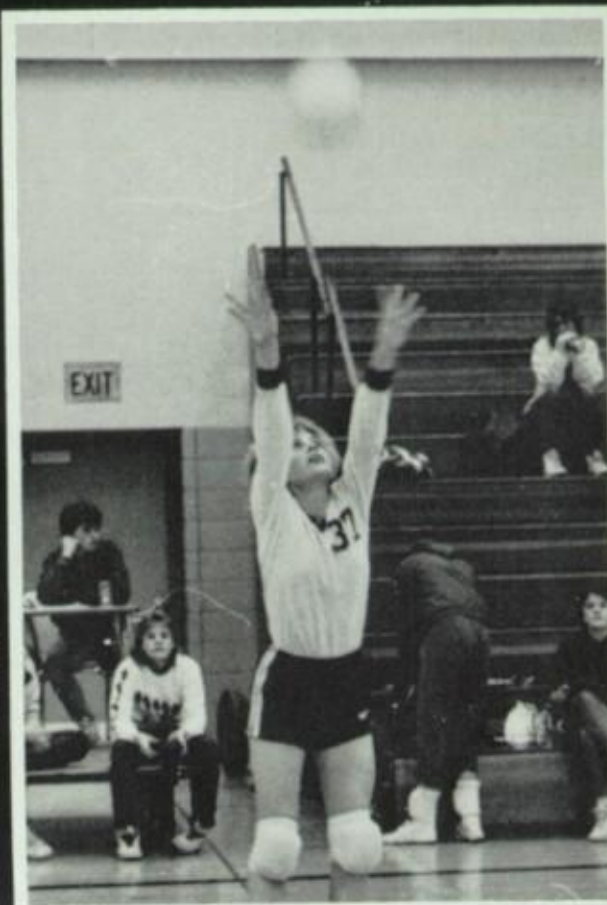

Our season is long and hard but well worth the effort.

The 1985 Boy's Cross Country Team was a team in transition. After the brilliant 1984 season the Rockets returned with a mostly young, inexperienced team, under the direction of a new coach and facing a larger highly competitive new league. The overall year demonstrated a degree of frustration in finishing twelfth in the league while illustrating an improved team awareness. Kyle Szukaitis, Scott Whiteman, Damon LaRiviere, and Lyle Trottier, all graduating seniors will be greatly missed. Yet, nine veterans return led by Dan Liedel. Dan Liedel had an impressive Junior season being All-Conference, All-Area, All-Regional, and placing 48th in the State Final individual race. Jeff Chote reigned among the Rocket Sophomores throughout the season. Next season looks brighter and the Rockets are determined to out distance the League.

-Coach Richard Gordon

The 1985 Girl's Cross Country season had many highlights. The girls placed 6th overall in the Conference and continued to improve at invitational meets. Only in their third year of existence they were 2nd at the Wayne Invitational and 3rd in the Regionals. With nine girls returning next year the future appears very favorable. Two individuals contributed greatly to our team's performance. They were Senior Karen Opp and Sophomore Ginger Rowland. Karen Opp was never defeated this season in dual competition; was Huron Invitational Champion, All-Area, All-Conference, All-Regional, 2nd at both the Wayne and Schoolcraft Invitationals, and 13th in State Individual Race. Ginger Rowland improved tremendously this season being All-Division, All-Area 2nd team, All-regional, and 47th in the State Final Individual Race. 1985 was a rewarding year and a steppingstone to the future in Girl's Cross Country.

A young and inexperienced John Glenn Golf Team demonstrated its ability by posting a 7-6 dual meet record for the 1985 season.

The prospect for the '85 season seemed uncertain as thirty-three students tried out for the team this past fall. It is very encouraging to see this much interest in the golf program. We continue to look for improvement next fall.

Senior captain Todd Sims led the Rockets with a 9 hole average of 41.9. John Glenn will return seven letterman next fall. Players with varsity experience include Juniors Lloyd Hall, Kenneth Barnhill and Alan Danielson. Sophomores expecting to contribute are Daniel Ford, Kenneth Perkins, Kevin Walker and Robert Hayworth.

For John Glenn to improve in the difficult Western Lakes Conference, all players must work hard in the off season. Glenn's golf prospect for next year looks great!!!

Girl's Tennis Team Show The Spirit

Coach Norton discusses the game with the team.

Dave Mytych

Trina Taylor concentrates on her backhand.

Entering the Western Lakes Activities Association proved to be a tough undertaking for the tennis team this year. Competitors from most schools were top class; some of the state's best players with Junior rankings. If we want to compete at the same level, we must improve. That means making a year-round commitment to tennis-playing as much as possible indoors between seasons.

We have no where to go but up following this opening season in the Lakes Division. Our only Senior, Teresa Phillips, took over the job of first Singles letting Erika Muir play most of the year at the number two spot. Newcomers to the team were Heather Hysko, Veronica Meldrum, Terri Belville, Kimberly Swalec and Tamara Davey and they will give us strength next year.

The 1986 John Glenn Gymnastics team by far surpassed everyone's highest expectations. Just as this year boasted a top football team, our gymnasts tumbled and vaulted their way to the top. This year we sent our gymnastics team to the regional competitions in Jackson, Michigan. This is the first time in John Glenn's history that our gymnasts reached this high goal, and the students really know how to show their pride for the number one team.

Deborah Tomasko, our prime vault contender, is expected to do well in March. Other team members are shooting for top honors in parallel and uneven bars, floor exercises, and beam. When the team goes to regionals in March, our hopes and good luck go with them.

Discovering The Truth

If there is one thing that has happened this year that sticks in everyone's mind, it has to have been the tragedy of the space shuttle "Challenger".

On Tuesday, January 28th, six spirited astronauts and one teacher boarded the "Challenger" with high expectations of what space held for them. After many delays, the crew was excited that the time had actually come to launch off.

Seventy seconds after lift-off, the shuttle exploded.

The explosion came as quite a shock to the country. The space shuttle missions had become so routine that most had taken for granted that they would always succeed.

This tragedy touched the hearts of people across the country as well as locally. The "Challenger Seven" sacrificed their lives to benefit their country.

President Reagan, while paying a tribute to the crew, commented that "They had a hunger to explore the universe and discover its truths. They wished to serve, and they did. They served all of us."

We will never forget this special group of people. We still believe in the promise of space.

-Deborah VanVelzor

LIVE AID

Hunger. Not many people think of what it would be like not to have food whenever they want it, but one person did. This person is Bob Geldof.

Bob Geldof felt this hunger first hand when he visited African villages. He knew right then that the world had to come together to end hunger.

Putting together Live Aid itself, was not an easy job. Many people didn't believe that Geldof could pull it off, but he contacted several rock influences, and the date was set. July 13, 1985. A day that would become instant history.

On July 13, sixty-six bands came together as one to perform for over a billion and half people in one hundred-fifty different countries. It was that day that the fact: "if one person pushes hard enough, he can change the world," became a reality.

Performances were made by such people as: Sting, Madonna, Mick Jagger, Tina Turner, and Bryan Adams.

Some of these musicians sang in Philadelphia PA, at the JFK Stadium, while others performed in London, England at Wembley Stadium. This was true with the exception of one person, Phil Collins.

Phil Collins performed with Sting at Wembley Stadium. Shortly after, he took a Concord over to Philadelphia to play the drums for the Led Zepplin reunion.

Besides the Led Zepplin reunion, other groups reunited for this special event. Groups such as: The Who, and Crosby, Stills, Nash, and Young.

During the performances, different musicians were interviewed. Bono, the lead singer of the group U2, felt that "people want more out of rock-n-roll." Sting was proud of being a part of Live Aid, and said that "if we can't take time out for this cause, then who can?"

As the night came to a close at Wembley Stadium, all the musicians who performed there, gathered on stage to perform the song "Do They Know It's Christmas?". A song that a group named Band-Aid sang to raise money for Africa.

The next few hours were left for the musicians at JFK Stadium to get the point across to everyone around the world that 'the time had come for hunger to come to an end'.

The final performance at JFK Stadium was the song; "We Are The World", written by Lionel Richie and Michael Jackson.

Lionel started off the song as all the performers of the day, joined in.

After Live Aid, eighty million dollars was raised to help the African famine victims; and Bob Geldof was nominated for a Nobel Peace Prize.

It was a day that changed the course of history.

-Tawnya Smith

LYRIC CENSORSHIP

This year brought new controversy to the music world, when a group of political wives calling themselves the Parent's Music Resource Center, caused a major uprising among the artists and fans alike.

These women accused more than fifteen rock groups of using obscene language, suggestions of the occult, references to drug usage and other harmful messages in their music. They were asking a judge to make censorship of all suggestive rock music lyrics a law. They also proposed that obscene record covers be wrapped in brown paper to protect young children's eyes from the bad influences.

Admittedly, some of the PMRC's accusations were correctly applied. But in almost every case, the songs and groups they were referring to were so obscure, that most teens hadn't even heard of them.

In the end, the PMRC only got what the record companies offered in the first place- a sticker warning the consumer of possibly suggestive or offensive lyrics. So all in all, what is the effect on teenage consumers by the new stickers? Now they know at a glance what records to buy. The PMRC has certainly had an adverse effect on their main objective instead of reducing obscenity, they are advertising it.

-Lauraine Donnelly

French Club members are as tough as they come at John Glenn. While schools were canceling trips to Europe because of the dangerous situation caused by terrorist activities, they got going.

French Club TERRORISM

This year's French Club took about thirty-five of its members on an eight hour plane to Madrid, an overnight train to Paris, a three hour bus ride to Calais on the coast of France, and a two hour boat ride across the English Channel. These students and some parents took advantage of the educational trip.

Before they left the travelers had to solve the tough problem of paying for the trip. They launched a serious fund-raising campaign. They sold jewelery, stationery at Christmas, Christmas ornaments, and candles.

Later, on March 27, fresh from a triumphal march through France, they set off on another journey - to the Auberge restaurant in Windsor, Canada.

Then, during the summer, they will set off on the toughest trip of all - to Sandusky, Ohio, and Cedar Point Amusement Park.

We expect them home by September.

New Music

NEW MUSIC
O.M.D. TEARS FOR FEARS
AAA
THE DREAM ACADEMY
THE CURE R.E.M.
SIMPLE MINDS

What's the newest thing in music? A style frequently called "New Music" which includes all kinds of sounds and styles from the West Coast to the East Coast to Europe.

With the new radio station, WDTX, FM 99, the general public of Detroit became aware of foreign groups that had been enjoying success for years in Europe, and new groups looking for a larger American audience. For instance, the British group Orchestral Manuevers in the Dark has produced over 5 albums before hitting the U.S. under the simplified name, OMD.

On the other hand, new groups such as Tears for Fears and The Dream Academy found eager ears and a long-awaited audience upon hitting American soil, and enjoyed their short trip to the top of the charts.

New music itself is just that - a brand new style formed from blending cutesie pop trends with anything from jazz or rhythm and blues, to New Wave or even Hardcore Punk. And, the American music scene is eating up the wonderful mix of styles, cultures and beats.

1985 also introduced several new spin-off groups. Power Station and Arcadia were born from Duran Duran for short-lived but extremely noted and successful projects. Duran fans need not fear though, for the boys are back in the studio together again. A recognized hit a few years ago, "Darkommissar" from the group After the Fire, Falco emerged from the ashes and struck a fatal blow to the American public with the song "Amadeus"!

All in all, the music industry has only begun to experience the flow of New Music groups and styles that will surely open up from Europe. We should expect to be hearing some really good music in the next couple of years!

RAMBO

Part II

In today's modern society we, the younger and possibly older generation, have a peculiar fascination with revenge and death. In Hollywood, the name of Sylvester Stallone means a shoot-em-up, no holds barred, action picture, and this is exactly what his film "RAMBO, First Blood Part II" was all about. It's the story of Vietnam veteran John Rambo who, after being in prison for shooting up a town in "First Blood", is freed on the condition that he go back to Vietnam and see if there are any remaining American P.O.W.'s left in a Vietnamese prison torture camp.

Now, Sylvester Stallone does one thing with his movies. He makes them about a subject the public wants to know about. So why did "Rambo" go over so big? Well, 10 to 1 says it was because of the action and subject matter. The P.O.W. conflict is a big issue and America just loves to see our all-American hero (Rambo) shoot up all the bad guys, get the P.O.W.'s out and save the day.

There's nothing better the public likes to see than the bad guys getting wasted. "Rambo" generated a lot of sympathy for the Vietnam Vets, and brought a question to our minds: Is there a possibility that P.O.W.'s are still being held in Vietnam? We each have our own opinion about this matter. Although the public feels sympathy, it usually doesn't last long. The feelings last until the movie dies or leaves the screen scene.

America took to "Rambo" like storm. Basically because we won this version of the Vietnam War. John Rambo, the human-killing machine, manages, single-handedly, to infiltrate the enemy camp, get a P.O.W. out, get captured, escape, kill the bad guys, commandeer a helicopter, kill more bad guys, get all the P.O.W.'s out, return home, and get even with the men who betrayed him. Now you tell me, how could you not love a character that does that? I'm sure Sylvester Stallone knew what he was generating with this film, and that it would go over so big.

The only sad part about this whole matter is that once the film disappears so does the caring. Americans who weren't in Vietnam could care less about it. They just enjoy the movie. It's just another phase to go through in cinematic entertainment. But, and I shouldn't say this, I'm sure the hearts of American's everywhere will pound and their blood boil when "First Blood, Part III" hits the screen nationwide in 1987. I wonder what phase Sylvester Stallone will put us through then. We'll just have to wait and see.

MARVY!

Fashion Trends

The 1985-86 school year was certainly a year of news! It was a year when fashion trends made a bold statement; John Glenn had quite a lot to say, too!

In the beginning of the year, "Madonna wannabes" still lingered with the summer heat. As summer progressed and fall arrived, 'v' neck, cable-knit sweaters could be seen everywhere! Flats. Cropped pants. Remember the tank-tops? Everyone wore them with everything. With the tank-tops came the "Miami-Vice" look. The halls of John Glenn were filled with Don Johnsons! Cotton sport coat, cotton baggies, and for those who could grow one, a five o'clock shadow.

Glennites bundles up to winter with style. Wool coats. European cut. This year's line of wool coats offered something new, color. Instead of dull, earthy colors, we were able to wear warm wool in red, blue, and yellow! Scarfs added a sharp flare. Sweaters played a key role in this winter's fashion; traditionally conservative, but always accepted.

After Christmas vacation, it was time for Glenn to really show it's worth to the world of fashion! Sporting patterns! From paisley shirts and pants to two-toned denims. Wool pleats. Dress oxfords.

Spring blossomed with vibrant colors! Mint green. Butterscotch. Peach. Stirrup pants and dangling earrings looked Marvy!

This was a year when we were finally about to take off our sunglasses. It was the end of fluorescent! And Izod. They were gobbled off the racks and into the closets! Thin ties were abolished! Gym shoes were swallowed! Feather hair flew away! We're in the age of mousse now!

Fashion indeed plays a key role in the world today. Besides making a statement, it enables us to feel better about ourselves.

The old cliché: 'Don't judge the man by his clothes, but his clothes by the man!'

John Glenn high school, a school that follows and makes trends! Here are a few words that may remind us of those trends!

Guess, Swatch, Reebok, Boundary Waters, paisley, beads, . . . sweats!

This year, twenty students contributed their time and talents planning and composing a yearbook that upholds the high standards set in years past. Each staff member did an exceptional job overcoming scheduling problems and assuming the responsibilities required to produce a book such as the 1986 Satellite eventually became.

I'm extremely proud of the 1986 Satellite you now hold in your hands. Each member of the staff contributed his or her talents. We believed from the beginning that this edition would be one of John Glenn's best and that it might set new standards for future books. This we still believe.

I would like to give special thanks to the artists, writers, and typists that gave their spare time during the final days of completion: Randy Parrish, Charles Greene, Julie Stevenson, and the John Glenn Echo Staff.

Congratulations To The Class of 1986

Please remember that if you're going to drink, don't drive. Drinking and driving can kill a friendship.

Every year when prom and graduation season come around, more teenagers are killed because of alcoholic beverages. Last year was a good year, better than the other years because people fought against this killer and did things to try and prevent it, like advertising on the radio, showing movies on television along with commercials about drinking and driving. But that is not enough. This killer won't stop killing unless the people who bring this killer on (getting drunk) stop drinking and start fighting. So please don't drink and drive this season.

Pam,
 you are a nice girl, that is great in every sport. I hope you get a scholarship. I hope we're always friends and always keep in touch.
 Love,

Pam,
 You know I hate
 writing in these stupid books but since your making me I guess I'll be nice.
 For a sweet girl? I've known for a long long time. Sometimes I think to long. But sometimes I think life's a bitch kind a like you.
 Love ya
 Your Big Brother
 Chuck

P.S.
 The reason I put a ? by girl is because sometimes I wonder if your really a girl because (sometimes/most) of the time you act like a boy.

I've known you for a few years now. But I'm glad I got to know you better. This year
 you did good in V-Ball &
 J-Ball. Good luck at Stevenson High next year!
 Have a great Summer!
 Take Care,
 Love & Friendship

Pam,
 Howdy
 how are ya? Well
 I'm gonna miss ya
 next year, but I hope you have fun in your new school. Have a great summer.
 Love ya,

Pamela I've
 looked forward to
 Mr. Thomas's class
 all year because we get along pretty well. I've missed you all those days you were absent, so I'll definitely miss you next year
 when you go to Stevenson.
 Try to keep in touch with all your old friends at Glenn

Pam, most to the most person loud, afraid I know. We to speak out in front of people I know. We had a blast in Mackinac to bad ya can't go next year. Good Luck at
 J. Stevenson!
 Love,
 Kim

Pam,
Really really
glad I met you!
I will miss you
but I'll be back this summer & to you
of just trip
of trouble, etc.

Pam,
You're a real
sweet heart
I've known her for a while & hope to see you in some of my classes next year.
Have a great summer!
